p. 73 -

Regular meeting, Oct. 7, 1899.

Col. Thompson reported he had talked with Mr. Hamilton, the Contractor for the monument, "and he could not tell just when the monument would be finished. Therefore, owing to the uncertainty of the late fall weather, it was thought best to postpone the dedication ceremony until next June, and that the Contractor be informed by Col. Thompson that the Camp would not receive the monument before next May.

Since last meeting, the death of Joseph Levy <sup>of the City</sup> and _____ ? announced (not completed, perhaps, the one is all they knew of) Adjourned

Camp met at City Hall,

The Col. commanding reported that Comrade E. B. Talley, some months ago, had been given a list of subscriptions for our Monument Fund, that he has failed to make report of collections, and has also failed to attend the meetings of the Camp.
Wherefore, on motion of Comrade Myers, the Commander was asked to appoint two comrades as a com. to settle with said E. B.
Talley, receive what money he may have in hand, - - - - - further ordered that if said E. B. Talley, & if he fails to make settlement, etc, an ad be put in papers, notifying persons not "to not make any further payments" to said Talley, etc.

Com. authorized to investigate and use their discretion as to matter of purchasing additional ground in Cemetery and to solicit funds to pay for said grounds, if purchased.

Several general orders from Gen Lee were read for information.
Adj. to last Sat. in Oct. 1904.

From Obituary on James H. Sedinger He d. Feb. 9, 1901, after many days of sickness that he knew was mortal. Name - James Havis Sedinger.

He was among the first to enlist in Confed. army, & fought until war closed after Appomattox.
 Many battles & hand to hand conflicts.
 Many hardships & much suffering.
 Acted always the soldier and patriot.
 Never shrank from danger or battle.
 When cause was lost he came back to civil life, always a faithful & industrious citizen a sober man among his boys, never boasting, subdued yet cheerful of manner, always kind to the unfortunate.

Cherished always the memory of a lost cause "and that feeling was most manifest when with moistened eye and quivering voice, he struck hands with some old companion in arms and recalled the priceless treasures of their common experiences."

"He looked upon these after days as "poor piping days of peace" and before his vision forever across the shade of that mighty column in gray, whose deeds belong to imperishable history and whose ancient reveille was to his ear the trumpet of an archangel."

"We profoundly regret that he is gone", and to his bereaved household tender the sympathy of our hearts, etc.
